Tax rates are calculated based on a calendar year from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31. Any changes in tax rates that take effect during the calendar year are prorated in the above table. Tax rates may differ for corporations with non-calendar years.

¹ M&P rate applies to M&P profits in excess of the business limit.

² Saskatchewan: The combined rate on income eligible for the Small Business Deduction (SBD) is 10.5% up to the federal business limit of $500,000 and then increases to 16.5% for income between the federal business limit and the provincial business limit of $600,000.

³ Saskatchewan: The provincial small business corporate tax rate of 1% is extended to July 1, 2024, at which point the rate is increased to 2%.
